PROTECTION OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

This practice takes the security of your personal information very seriously.

This practice recognises the vital role that information technology plays in its daily operations, and the reliance placed on IT systems in processing personal information.

Although absolute security cannot be guaranteed, this practice will take reasonable technical and organisational measures to protect your personal information against accidental, unauthorised or intentional manipulation, loss, misuse, destruction, disclosure or access.

This practice's security measures are regularly verified for its operating effectiveness.

Reasonable mechanisms, tools and technologies have been implemented to detect, prevent and respond to security violations. Information security policies and procedures that govern security safeguards are in place, including dedicated teams and business processes to govern instances of non-compliance with privacy policies, procedures or applicable law.

DISCLOSURE OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

This practice may disclose your personal information if authorised to do so by law.

This practice also engages with various third parties, to improve its service, create efficiency in its operations, and contribute towards the overall wellbeing of users and patients.

This practice will share your personal information if:

- you have provided consent;
- it is for the proper treatment and care of yourself; and/or
- it is in accordance with applicable law.

When this practice shares your information with any third party, they will be required to respect your right to privacy and this practice will ensure that we have the necessary safeguards in place to secure your personal information.

This practice will only allow third parties to process your personal information for a specific purpose, in accordance with this practice's instructions and applicable law. E.g. sharing account details documents with our Billing Agent for the purpose of invoicing.

RETENTION OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

This practice may retain all personal information that is collected from you, as long as it remains necessary for the purposes for which it was collected unless there is a valid technical, legal or business reason for it to be deleted, destroyed or to de-identify it.

Records remain active and are retained as per HPCSA guidelines in an archived folder.

Records shall only be made available in accordance with the Promotion to Access of Information Act 2 of 2000.

DIRECT MARKETING

This practice does not use data for marketing purposes.

STORAGE AND TRANSFER OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

This practice stores your personal information on its servers and/or on third party servers as well as on external hard drive which is password protected and kept by the Information Officer.

This practice reserves the right to transfer to and/or store your personal information on servers in a jurisdiction other than where it was collected. If the location where personal information is transferred to does not have substantially similar laws which provide for the protection of personal information, this practice will take reasonably practicable steps to ensure that your personal information is adequately protected in that jurisdiction.
